KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS COMPLETE PREPARATIONS

Local Council Will Bring Contest to Close for Trip to Atlantic City and Niagara Falls Thursday.

NEW ATTRACTIONS HAVE BEEN SECURED FOR OUTING

Bad weather is the only thing that will prevent Charleroi Council No. 956, Knights of Columbus and their guests from enjoying one of the finest times of their lives at Eldora Park tomorrow, where the council is holding a picnic as a benefit for St. Jerome's church, Charleroi, the superstructure of which it is desired to finish at the earliest possible time. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the affair and not only Charlerci, but other towns in the valley are expected to send large crowds.

The chief feature of outing will be the closing of the contest for a trip to Atlantic City and one to Niagara Falls by young ladies. The contest will be brought to a close at 10 o'clock in the evening and the winners announced from the dancing pavilion. Those in the contest are Misses Lydia Lambert, Mazie Connell, Harriet Wagner, Anna Buchanan and Lillian Shields.

Besides the park amusements there will be a number of special attractions. Manager Harry Davis of the Hippodrome at Pittsburg has assisted in providing these special attractions, and among the things to be seen at the park will be the smallest pony in the world, a Punch and Judy show, the Whitlcok sisters in an aerial act, a wild man and a Plantation Show. The local council has arranged for a Gypsy queen who will tell of deeds past and future of those who desire.

Jenkins' orchestra of ten pieces and a brass band will render music during the day. Special cars have been arranged to convey children and others of St. Jerome's Sunday school to and from the park. Cars will leave Seventh street at 9:45 o'clock in the morning and the return trip will be made from the park at 7:30 o'clock. The committee in charge of transportation will meet at the church at 9:15 o'clock in the morning. Special cars will be sent to Allenport and other up river towns to take people from up river to the park.

Supper will be served at the park between the hours of 4 and 7:30 o'clock by Mrs. George Bailey and a bevy of young ladies. Twelve young ladies have been selling tickets for this supper and the two selling the largest number of tickets will be given free passes to the Palace and the Star Theatres for the balance of the season. A general admission price of 10 cents will be charged to all entering the park unless they hold supper tickets.

The committee in charge of the outing is composed of D. A. Oates, chairman; Cornelius Buchanan, J. K. Rickey, J. P. Reagan, Jospeh Hochendonner, John Maines, John Kuth, George Bailey, M. J. Crowley, Joseph Brand, John B. Schafer and Harry J. Correll.

MONONGAHELA GAS COMPANY LOWERS PRICE

People Now Only Have To Pay 10c Per Thousand Cubic Feet

NEW GAS WELL DRILLED

The price of gas has been reduced in Monongahela 5 cents on the thousand feet by the Citizens Gas company. This brings gas down to 10 cents where the fomer price was 15 cents per thousand. The move which delights all gas users, was decided upon at a meeting of the directors of the company following the drilling of a big gas well on the Gregg property a short time ago.

Recieved Promotion.

George W. Jewel, who has been assistant manager of the Colonial Life Insuracne company of America at Charleroi, has been promoted to be assistant manager of the McKeesport office, a distinct promotion for the local man, who has made an enviable record while with this company. Mr. Jewel will not move his family to his new field of labor, but will continue to make this city his home. Geo. B. Nelson has been promoted to the charge of the Charleroi office.

Paul Robison of Mononaghela, a student in W. J. college spent Monday evening in Charleroi.

MEN ENTERTAINED BY ANCHOR CLASS

Monthly Meetings Will Be Held for Discussion of Bible School Work

The Anchor class of women of the First Christian Sunday school entertained the men of the congregation last night at the church. The teacher of the Anchor class, Mrs. Elijah Dainty, presided and an informal program was rendered in which a discussion of Bible school work was the chief feature. Mrs. Dainty gave a talk and others who spoke were Mrs. Mary Moffitt, Mrs. C. Corwin, and Mrs. W. F. Harper of the Anchor class, Superintendent J. M. Whitlatch of the Sunday school, J. D. Berryman, teacher of the Men's Bible class, W. H. Jones, Fred Clerihue and Frank Ingold. Lunch was served in the basement of the church, and Rev. Hostetter during the banqueting made an address.

As a result of the good which was apparent at the meeting it was suggested that monthly meetings be held at which time the Sunday school work be discussed. The suggestion met with much favor, and will likely be put into effect.

BEAVER AND LAWRENCE COUNTIES WILL SEND LARGE DELEGATIONS

Charleroi Committee Working Along River to Secure Large Representation at Harrisburg.

With the Republican State convention but a week off, the promoters of the special train from Charleroi and the valley towns for an excursion to Harrisburg are hard at work. Already a large number have paid their money over and reservations have been made for them on the sleeping cars. In order to secure the train the number who will attend must be specified, and for that reason some tall hustliing is being done in order to make the requisition for the number of cars that will be required.

Yesterday representatives visited Brownsville and other up-river points where a number of bookings were secured with more to follow. Others visited Donora, and were equally successful in getting the people interested there. Monongahela is expected to turn out large delegations as well as other points along the river and the adjacent territory.

A prominent Beaver county man was in town yesterday and stated that the Beaver valley would send a big delegation of enthusiast boomers for Congressman John K. Tener to the convention. He also stated that Lawrence county would also be represented and that those two counties of the district are in enthusiastic line for Mr. Tener for the Gubernatorial nomination. The excursion will be a pleasant and congenial one, and those who attend will receive every consideration at the State capitol that will be possible to secure for them. The Charleroi contingent will be joined at Pittsburg by the Washington delegation, which will be headed by Judge J. F. Taylor, who will make the presentaton speech in case Mr. Tener's name comes before the convention.

FLAG DAY OBSERVED BY BELLE VERNON CITIZENS

Charleroi Brigades Assist---Parade of Organizations and Secret Societies Principal Feature

Flag Day was celebrated in Belle Vernon last night by a parade and by the decoration of buildings. The parade was in the evening, and a number of secret societies and organizations of various nature, including the Charleroi Boys Brigade and the Washington Avenue Boys Brigade of Charleroi took part. There were two bands and a number of children marched. After the parade the Charleroi brigades under Captains Jolliffe and Wallgren went through a number of evolutions on the street.

Flag Day has been made an annual observance in Belle Vernon. It was held for the first time last year, and this year on a somewhat more elaborate scale. Next year it is intended to make the celebration surpass all previous efforts.

A tract of land purchased by the company in that borough contains five acres. The new building will be 320x60 feet. A force of 100 persons will be employed at first but officials of the company state that when the factory is going at its capacity it will employ nearly 250. The officials of the company folllow: President, W. H. Cochran; secretary, Paul D. Cochran; treasurer, J. G. Cummings.

WASHINGTON AVES. DEFEAT LUTHERANS

The Washington Avenues defeated the Lutherans in a good game last night, and gave themselves a boost from the cellar position to the second place in the second division. The score was at the finish 5 to 1, the Lutherans barely escaping a shutout.

The Washington Avenues scored their runs in the first, second and fourth innings. In the first a base on balls, passed ball, and a sacrifice was responsible, and in the second four hits with two passed balls allowed two tallies. Through one single, two errors and a stolen base two were scored in the fourth. In the second on two hits a passed ball, and other incidentals the Lutherans scored one. The score:

BIG DELEGATION EXPECTED TO ATTEND FROM VALLEY

One Hundred Men Give Assurance That They Will Attend Sunday School Convention On Friday Evening.

CHARLEROI DIVISION WILL LEAD THE PARADE

Indications are that one hundred men, the number first counted upon to attend the men's seession of the Washington County Sunday School Convention at Washington on Friday evening, and take part in the parade will go from Charleroi. Special efforts are being made to have as large a delegation as possible from the river district, and Charleroi men interested in the Adult Federated classes are especially busy. In the parade which starts at 7 o'clock in the evening Charleroi is given first place.

Some Charleroi people will leave early in the afternoon and get the 2:26 train from Finleyville for Washington. This will necessitate taking the 1:15 car from here. The next train leaves Finleyville at 5:11 o'clock in the afternoon. By taking the 4:15 car, if it is on schedule time, this would allow people five minutes to make the connection at Finleyvjlle.

A special car will leave Washington about 10 o'clock, arriving in Charleroi in time to allow California and people from up-river time to catch the "bummer."

The mens' meeting will be held from 6 to 7 o'clock in the evening at the Central Presbyterian church, and the parade will immediately follow. The line will form in the following order:

Washington band.
Boys Brigade.
Ministers.
Division No. 1, Charleroi, Finleyville, McDonald and Burgettstown.
No. 2, California, Monongahela, Centerville, Bentlevyille and Scenery Hill.
No. 3, Canonsburg, Independence, Hickory, Lone Pine and Prosperity.
No. 4 Claysville, West Fniley and Washington.
No. 5, the veterans in automobiles.

HAS USED PENCIL SINCE 1881 AND IT IS STILL GOOD

"Uncle Dan" Has Many Pencils With Records, But This One Takes Cake.

PRESENT OF COUNTY MAN

Prof. Daniel Gayman, who has year supervised the instruction of the young idea how to shoot in the Somerset township schools and who is summering, that is has begun to summer in Charleroi, is not essentially a collector of relics, but he has one article he received as a present the year before the big wind, that migh safely be called a relic. The article is a pencil.

In the year 1881, N. R. Baker, now cashier of the Citizens National Bank of Wahington, who was then a storekeeper, presented to "Uncle Dan," as Prof. Gayman is known from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico, a pencil, one of those indelible affairs, which to the average person is more of a nuisance than a benefit. But not so to Uncle Dan. He used that pencil, and used it some more, and is still using it, until the thing has become about the nearest example of perpetual pencil ever seen. Prof. Gayman has many other pencils, some of them with records, but for long life from a sturdy childhood until near the finality of the seven ages, that one indelible pencil possesses first honors.

Fine Cattle.

Charles Schmeiler, the Fallowfield avenue meat market man, receive a carload of fine beef cattle yesterday, which will be taken to his abattoirs up Maple Creek for slaughter as th trade demands. The consignmen contained some remarkably fine specimens.

On a Business Basis

Whatever inconveniences and discomforts the high cost of living may have imposed upon the public, it has conferred one benefit that will be far reaching. This is the interest and inquiry into public expenditures, and a disposition to insist upon strict business methods instead of the loose extravagance that has hitherto prevailed. In searching about as to why certain commodities have advanced so sharply during the past few years, it is discovered that revenue is collected from some of these for public expenditures, and that as this revenue is all expended, to shift the burden elsewhere would not help matters. The logical conclusion then is that the best way to cut down taxation is to retrench on public expenditures.

Heretofore it has been a popular belief that public money was public plunder. A billion dollar Congress attracted no attention until it is discovered that this money is collected from the necessities of the people. Now the public is sitting up and taking notice, and wondering if we need so many battleships and if it is necessary to spend so much money to help kill off people when it is becoming such a hard matter to live. Is it necessary for the Government to build a one-story postoffice in every town at the cost of a four-story block, when it can rent infinitely cheaper or to erect a monument to every citizen who has simply displayed his patriotism in a dutiful manner? The plan of doing the public business in the same careful manner as in private lines is becoming more popular, and the people are beginning to insist that graft and sinecures must be cut off.

Negative Treatment

The campaign against cancer inaugurated by the Washington County Medical Society, as well as other movements for the prevention of diseases, is a striking demonstration that the negative from of treatment is as valuable as the positive form. This has gained so much favor that some of the large insurance companies require medical examinations at stated intervals of their insurants. The companies find that they can pay this extra expense and still make money for the company by prolonging the lives of the insured and nipping mortal diseases in the bud.

This is particularly true with cancer. Nearly every virulent case might have been cured had it been taken in time. As people approach middle age it has been found the part of wisdom to have a thorough medical examination at least once a year in order to learn whether or not there are any symptoms of the diseases that usually attack people of this age. In other words people should invoke medical attention not to cure disease, but to prevent them. A medical examination even when one appears in the best of health may be the cause of prolonging one's life as well as saving physician's bills in the future. Those who fear the dread disease of cancer will do well to be on the watch for the slightest symptom.

Scored a Point

By the exercise of some energetic work Monongahela's Board of Trade has succeeded in locating a new industry for that town. It is an enameling plant for the manufacture of enamel ware, and will start out with the employment of one hundred people. While not a particularly large investment, it is capable of expansion, and bids fair to become an important industry of the valley.

This plant will be a decided acquisition to the industrial life of Monongahela. This town has no big plants like steel or glass factories involving big investments, but it has a multitude of small concerns that in the aggregate counts up in making a wages fund of respectable proportions. Monongahela is not a one industry town, although the coal mining industry there is an important factor as in all other towns along the valley. Best of all Monongahela has a bunch of hustling young business men who are doing a whole lot in the way of bringing trade and industry to the town. This latest achievement is an important one, and will add considerably to the standing and prestige of the town.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Charlereoi is all puffed up because of the fact that the new street cars are to be installed on the valley division and because they are to get a new passenger station. It is well they should do their "blowing" now, for they will be totally eclipsed when Monongahela gets started.—Monongahela Times.

Mononaghela has spent something like a century to get to its present state, an if that is any criterion of what we may expect when it does get "started," Charleroi's "blowing" will not be ill-timed.

SHOWER TENDERED FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

The L. C.B. A. gave a linen and china shower last evening, complimentary to Miss Elizabeth Fries of Fallowfield avenue, whose marriage to Francis Lee will be an event of the very near future. Many beautiful and useful presents were received. The guests numbered about 25. The diversions were progressive euchre and vocal and instrumental music.

Miss Fries is past assistant recorder of the local branch of the L. C. B. A. and an active member. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. John Fries the mother of the bride to be, assisted by Mrs. Reese, Miss Stella Connelly, Miss Lillian Reilley and Miss Nora Reilley.

Heffran has investigated into the death of John Patrick, the foreigner who was found dead on the railroad tracks at Woods Run early Sunday morning and found that he was intoxicated and trespassing on the tracks. The pockets of the man's clothing were turned inside out by the Elco constable, who was searching for evidences as to how he met death.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Black Duck, Minn.—"About a year ago I wrote you that I was sick and could not do any of my housework. My sickness was called Retroflexion. When I would sit down I felt as if I could not get up. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and did just as you told me and now I am perfectly cured, and have a big baby boy."—Mrs. ANNA ANDERSON, Box 19, Black Duck, Minn.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

THE CHAMELEON.

This Curious Animal Is Like Two Half Creatures Joined.

The chameleon is not allied closely to any other animal. It stands as a genus by itself. The nervous centers in one lateral half operate independently of those in the other. This seems outrageous, and it is, but it is true. The chameleon has two lateral centers of perception—of sensation and of motion. There exists also a third center—that common one in which abides the power of concentration by means of which the two sides of the creature may be forced to work in harmony with each other. But this center of concentration does not always dominate the situation. Notwithstanding the strictly symmetrical structure of the animal's two halves, the eyes move quite independently, and they convey distinct and separate impressions to their respective centers of perception. As of the eyes, so of the other members—each reports to and is controlled by its own center.

The result is that when the faculty of concentration becomes disturbed everything is jumbled. Let the chameleon be much agitated and its movements grow erratic. They are those of two creatures fastened together, or, rather, of two half creatures joined. Each half exhibits its intention of going its separate way. The result is a pitiable confusion of movement. There is no concordance of action. A curious example of the chameleon's helplessness when unduly excited is found in the fact that it cannot swim. The shock of being plunged into water upsets the poise of its faculty for concentration. Forthwith each side strikes out wildly for itself, to its own undoing. The chameleon is the only four legged vertebrate that cannot swim.

When the creature is calm every impulse to motion is referred to the common center of concentration, and the entire organism acts in fitting accord with the commands issued by that faculty. Thus, while totally different impressions from the two eyes are transmitted from their centers to the common one, that concentrating power decides as to which scene is the more important and then directs the eye otherwise engaged also to regard it. The same principle applies in the control of all the members—so long as the animal remains unexcited. Any observer may easily verify the existence of this dual nature in a superficial way by some experiments with a sleeping chameleon. A touch on one side of the animal will wake that side up, while the other side sleeps calmly on.

JUNE ON THE GREAT LAKES

Restful, delightful, interesting and instructive, there is no trip like that on the Great Lakes, those inland seas which form the border line between the United States and Canada. And June is one of the most charming months in the year in which to take the trip.

For comfort the fine passenger steamships of the Anchor Line have no superiors. As well appointed as the palatial ocean greyhounds which plow the Atlantic, their schedule allows sufficient time at all stopping places to enable the traveler to see something of the great lake cities and to view in daylight the most distinctive sights of the lakes, and the scenery which frames them.

The trip through the Detroit River, and through Lake St. Clair, with its great ship canal in the middle of the lake, thence through Lake Huron, the locking of the steamer through the great locks at the Soo, and the passage of the Portage Entry, lake and canal, across the upper end of Michigan are novel and interesting features.

The voyage from Buffalo to Duluth covers over eleven hundred miles in the five days' journey. Leaving Buffalo, the steamships Juniata, Tionesta and Octorara, make stops at Erie, Cleveland, Detroit, Macknac Island, the Soo, Marquette, Houghton and Hancock, and Duluth.

The 1910 season opened on May 31, when the Steamer Tionesta made her first sailing from Buffalo.

The Anchor Line is the Great Lake Annex of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the service measures up to the high standard set by the "Standard Railroad of America."

An illustrated folder, giving sailing dates of steamers, rates of fare, and other information is in course of preparation, and may be obtained when ready from any Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agent, who is also prepared to book passengers who may desire to take this trip through the Great Lakes and back.

A CHEERFUL OUTLOOK.

Making It Pleasant For the Studious Traveler.

An English tourist traveling on foot through one of our mountainous regions, studying the people, asked a man whom he met to direct him to a certain cabin at which he had been advised to stay overnight. "Going thar?" said the man. "Well, Tom's a first rater, take him just right, but he's mighty queer."

"What do you mean?" asked the traveler.

"Well, it's like this," and the man looked at the stranger in a calm, impersonal way. "He'll be setting outside, most probably, and he'll see you coming. He'll take a good look at you, and ef you don't suit him he may set the dog on you.

"Ef he don't and you get to talking with him and say anything he don't just like he may throw you down and tromp on you. But ef you're too careful in your talk, on the other hand, he's liable to take you for a spy and use his gun fust and listen to explanations afterward.

"But it's no use trying to get by without stopping," concluded the man, with evident relish of the prospect he was opening up to the stranger. "Ef you was to undertake that 'twould be all up with you, for he'd think you was proud and biggetty.

"Ef you want to come out of the mountain whole, don't go past Tom's cabin without stopping, whatever you do!"—Youth's Companion.

Tactless.

"When Clubber gets arguing he loses all tact."

"As for instance?"

"Why, last night he told an opponent who is lame that he hadn't a leg to stand on, another who squints that he was sorry he couldn't see things as he did, and a man who stammered he urged not to hesitate in expressing an opinion."—Stray Stories.

An African and a Boa Constrictor.

At M'Geta, German East Africa, a native who, like all those belonging to the tribe of the Waluguru, regarded snake flesh as an especial delicacy found a huge boa constrictor lying in the middle of a field. He confided the discovery to one or two others and arranged with them to kill it during the hours of darkness, so that they might enjoy the delicacy together. Toward nightfall the man, armed with a stick, attacked the huge serpent. The boa constrictor, aroused from its apparent torpor, suddenly seized the unhappy negro and slowly crushed him to pulp and then gradually swallowed him.

Lincoln as He Knew Him.

Asked under the civil service rules to write what he knew about Abraham Lincoln, an applicant for the police force of New York wrote:

"Abraham Lincoln was born in Kentucky at a very early age. His father moved the family to Ohio, floating down the Mississippi. If he had not been killed by a murderer he might be living today. He was an intelligent man and could easily have been president of New York city."—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Word "Wallop."

The origin of the familiar vernacular verb "to wallop" is not generally known. It comes from the family name of the earls of Portsmouth. Sir John Wallop, K. G., was admiral commander in the reign of King Henry VIII. of the fleet which avenged French raids by burning French ships and twenty-one French villages. This was called, in the current parlance of the times, "walloping" them, and the phrase passed into the language and still survives.

A Convenient Topic.

"I wonder what persuaded Mr. Biggins to believe in reincarnation?"

"The fact," replied Miss Cayenne, "that so few people know anything about it. It enables him to have the conversation almost entirely to himself."—Washington Star.

Needed Airing.

"What's the matter with you?" demanded Borem hotly. "I've got a right to air my opinions, haven't I?"

"Oh, of course," replied Brightly. "They're so stale and musty they certainly need something of that sort."—Philadelphia Press.

Three Meals at Once.

"Now, Mary," said her mistress, "you must come to the door of the drawing room and say, 'Breakfast is ready, and supper is ready, but dinner is served.'"

The newly corralled domestic inwardly digested the concise instructions and that evening convulsed the guests who were awaiting the announcement of dinner by stepping between the portieres, dropping a courtesy and repeating, "Breakfast is ready and supper is ready, but dinner is ser-r-ved!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

There is a paradox in pride—it makes some men ridiculous, but prevents others from becoming so.—Colton.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS COMPLETE PREPARATIONS

Local Council Will Bring Contest to Close for Trip to Atlantic City and Niagara Falls Thursday.

NEW ATTRACTIONS HAVE BEEN SECURED FOR OUTING

Bad weather is the only thing that will prevent Charleroi Council No. 956, Knights of Columbus and their guests from enjoying one of the finest times of their lives at Eldora Park tomorrow, where the council is holding a picnic as a benefit for St. Jerome's church, Charleroi, the superstructure of which it is desired to finish at the earliest possible time Elaborate arrangements have been made for the affair and not only Charleroi, but other towns in the valley are expected to send large crowds

The chief feature of outing will be the closing of the contest for a trip to Atlantic City and one to Niagara Falls by young ladies. The contest will be brought to a close at 10 o'clock in the evening and the winners announced from the dancing pavilion. Those in the contest are Misses Lydia Lambert, Mazie Connell, Harriet Wagner, Anna Buchanan and Lillian Shields.

Besides the park amusements there will be a number of special attractions. Manager Harry Davis of the Hippodrome at Pittsburg has assisted in providing these special attractions, and among the things to be seen at the park will be the smallest pony in the world, a Punch and Judy show, the Whitlcok sisters in an aerial act, a wild man and a Plantation Show. The local council has arranged for a Gypsy queen who will tell of deeds past and future of those who desire.

Jenkins' orchestra of ten pieces and a brass band will render music during the day. Special cars have been arranged to convey children and others of St. Jerome's Sunday school to and from the park. Cars will leave Seventh street at 9:45 o'clock in the morning and the return trip will be made from the park at 7:30 o'clock. The committee in charge of transportation will meet at the church at 9:15 o'clock in the morning. Special cars will be sent to Allenport and other up river towns to take people from up river to the park.

Supper will be served at the park between the hours of 4 and 7:30 o'clock by Mrs. George Bailey and a bevy of young ladies. Twelve young ladies have been selling tickets for this supper and the two selling the largest number of tickets will be given free passes to the Palace and the Star Theatres for the balance of the season. A general admission price of 10 cents will be charged to all entering the park unless they hold supper tickets.

The committee in charge of the outing is composed of D. A. Oates, chairman; Cornelius Buchanan, J. K. Rickey, J. P. Reagan, Jospeh Hochendonner, John Maines, John Kuth, George Bailey, M. J. Crowley, Joseph Brand, John B. Schafer and Harry J. Correll.

MONONGAHELA GAS COMPANY LOWERS PRICE

People Now Only Have To Pay 10c Per Thousand Cubic Feet

NEW GAS WELL DRILLED

The price of gas has been reduced in Monongahela 5 cents on the thousand feet by the Citizens Gas company. This brings gas down to 10 cents where the fomer price was 15 cents per thousand. Jewel, who has been assistant manager of the Colonial Life Insuracne company of America at Charleroi, has been promoted to be assistant manager of the McKeesport office, a distinct promotion for the local man, who has made an enviable record while with this company. MEN ENTERTAINED BY ANCHOR CLASS

Monthly Meetings Will Be Held for Discussion of Bible School Work

The Anchor class of women of the First Christian Sunday school entertained the men of the congregation last night at the church. The teacher of the Anchor class, Mrs. Elijah Dainty, presided and an informal program was rendered in which a discussion of Bible school work was the chief feature. Mrs. Dainty gave a talk and others who spoke were Mrs. Mary Moffitt, Mrs. C. Corwin, and Mrs. W. F. Harper of the Anchor class, Superintendent J. M. Whitlatch of the Sunday school, J. D. Berryman, teacher of the Men's Bible class, W. H. Jones, Fred Cleribue and Frank Ingold. Lunch was served in the basement of the church, and Rev. Hostetter during the banqueting made an address.

BEAVER AND LAWRENCE COUNTIES WILL SEND— LARGE DELEGATIONS

Charleroi Committee Working Along River to Secure Large Representation at Harrisburg.

With the Republican State convention but a week off, the promoters of the special train from Charleroi and the valley towns for an excursion to Harrisburg are hard at work. Already a large number have paid their money over and reservations have been made for them on the sleeping cars. In order to secure the train the number who will attend must be specified, and for that reason some tall hustling is being done in order to make the requisition for the number of cars that will be required

Yesterday representatives visited Brownsville and other up river points where a number of bookings were secured with more to follow. Others visited Donora, and were equally successful in getting the people interested there Monongahela is expected to turn out large delegations as well as other points along the river and the adjacent territory.

A prominent Beaver county man was in town yesterday and stated that the Beaver valley would send a big delegation of enthusiast boomers for Congressman John K. Tener to the convention. He also stated that Lawrence county would also be represented and that those two counties of the district are in enthusiastic line for Mr Tener for the Gubernatorial nomination. The excursion will be a pleasant and congenial one, and those who attend will receive every consideration at the State capitol that will be possible to secure for them. The Charleroi contingent will be joined at Pittsburg by the Washington delegation, which will be headed by Judge J. F. Taylor, who will make the presentaton speech in case Mr. Tener's name comes before the convention.

WASHINGTON AVES. DEFEAT LUTHERANS

The Washington Avenues defeated the Lutherans in a good game last night, and gave themselves a boost from the cellar position to the second place in the second division. The score was at the finish 5 to 1, the Lutherans barely escaping a shutout.

The Washington Avenues scored their runs in the first, second and fourth innings. In the first a base on balls, passed ball, and a sacrifice was responsible, and in the second four hits with two passed balls allowed two tallies. Through one single, two errors and a stolen base two were scored in the fourth. In the second on two hits a passed ball, and other incidentals the Lutherans scored one. The score:

BIG DELEGATION EXPECTED TO ATTEND FROM VALLEY

One Hundred Men Give Assurance That They Will Attend Sunday School Convention On Friday Evening.

CHARLEROI DIVISION WILL LEAD THE PARADE

Indications are that one hundred men, the number first counted upon to attend the men's seession of the Washington County Sunday School Convention at Washington evening, and take part in the parade will go from Charleroi. Special efforts are being made to have as large a delegation as possible from the river district, and Charleroi men interested in the Adult Federated classes are especially busy. In the parade which starts at 7 o'clock in the evening Charleroi is given first place.

Some Charleroi people will leave early in the afternoon and get the 2:26 train from Finleyville for Washington. This will necessitate taking the 1:15 car from here. The next train leaves Finleyville at 5:11 o'clock in the afternoon. By taking the 4.15 car, if it is on schedule time, this would allow people five minutes to make the connection at Finleyville.

A special car will leave Washington about 10 o'clock, arriving in Charleroi in time to allow California and people from up-river time to catch the

The mens' meeting will be held from 6 to 7 o'clock in the evening at the Central Presbyterian church, and the parade will immediately follow. The line will form in the following order:

Washington band.
Boys Brigade.
Ministers.
Division No 1, Charleroi, Finleyville, McDonald and Burgettstown.
No. 2, California, Monongahela, Centerville, Bentleyville and Scenery Hill.
No. 3, Canonsburg, Independence, Hickory, Lone Pine and Prosperity.
No. 4 Claysville, West Finley and Washington.
No. 5, the veterans in automobiles.

HAS USED PENCIL SINCE 1881 AND IT IS STILL GOOD

"Uncle Dan" Has Many Pencils With Records, But This One Takes Cake.

PRESENT OF COUNTY MAN

Prof. Daniel Gayman, who last year supervised the instruction of the young idea how to shoot in the Somerset township schools and who is summering, that is has begun to summer in Charleroi, is not essentially a collector of relics, but he has one article he received as a present the year before the big wind, that migh safely be called a relic. The article is a pencil.

In the year 1881, N. R. Baker, now cashier of the Citizens National Bank of Wahington, who was then a store keeper, presented to "Uncle Dan," as Prof. Gayman is known from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico, a pencil, one of those indelible affairs, which to the average person is more of a nuisance than a benefit. But not so to Uncle Dan. He used that pencil, and used it some more, and is still using it, until the thing has become about the nearest example of perpetual pencil ever seen. Prof. Gayman has many other pencils, some of them with records, but for long life from a sturdy childhood until near the finality of the seven ages, that one indelible pencil possesses first honors.

Fine Cattle.

Charles Schmeiler, the Fallowfield avenue meat market man, receive a carload of fine beef cattle yesterday, which will be taken to his abatoirs up Maple Creek for slaughter as the trade demands. The consignmen contained some remarkably fine specimens.

On a Business Basis

Whatever inconveniences and discomforts the high cost of living may have imposed upon the public, it has conferred one benefit that will be far reaching. This is the interest and inquiry into public expenditures, and a disposition to insist upon strict business methods instead of the loose extravagance that has hitherto prevailed. In searching about as to why certain commodities have advanced so sharply during the past few years, it is discovered that revenue is collected from some of these for public expenditures, and that as this revenue is all expended, to shift the burden elsewhere would not help matters. The logical conclusion then is that the best way to cut down taxation is to retrench on public expenditures.

Heretofore it has been a popular belief that public money was public plunder. A billion dollar Congress attracted no attention until it is discovered that this money is collected from the necessities of the people. Now the public is sitting up and taking notice, and wondering if we need so many battleships and if it is necessary to spend so much money to help kill off people when it is becoming such a hard matter to live. Is it necessary for the Government to build a one-story postoffice in every town at the cost of a four-story block, when it can rent infinitely cheaper or to erect a monument to every citizen who has simply displayed his patriotism in a dutiful manner? The plan of doing the public business in the same careful manner as in private lines is becoming more popular, and the people are beginning to insist that graft and sinecures must be cut off

The campaign against cancer inaugurated by the Washington County Medical Society, as well as other movements for the prevention of diseases, is a striking demonstration that the negative from of treatment is as valuable as the positive form. This has gained so much favor that some of the large insurance companies require medical examinations at stated intervals of their insurants. The companies find that they can pay this extra expense and still make money for the company by prolonging the lives of the insured and stopping mortal diseases in the bud.

This is particularly true with cancer. Nearly every virulent case might have been cured had it been taken in time. A people approach middle age that has been found the part of wisdom to have a thorough medical examination at least once a year in order to learn whether or not there are any symptoms of the diseases that usually attack people of this age. In other words people should invoke medical attention not to cure disease, but to prevent them. A medical examination even when one appears in the best of health may be the cause of prolonging one's life as well as saving physician's bills in the future. Those who fear the dread disease of cancer will do well to be on the watch for the slightest symptom.

Scored a Point

By the exercise of some energetic work Monongahela's Board of Trade has succeeded in locating a new industry for that town. It is an enameling plant for the manufacture of enamel ware, and will start out with the employment of one hundred people. While not a particularly large investment, it is capable of expansion, and bids fair to become an important industry of the valley.

This plant will be a decided acquisition to the industrial life of Monongahela. This town has no big plants like steel or glass factories involving big investments, but it has a multitude of small concerns that in the aggregate counts up in making a wages fund of respectable proportions. Monongahela is not a one industry town, although the coal mining industry there is an important factor as in all other towns along the valley. Best of all Monongahela has a bunch of hustling young business men who are doing a whole lot in the way of bringing trade and industry to the town. This latest achievement is an important one, and will add considerably to the standing and prestige of the town.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Charlereoi is all puffed up because of the fact that the new street cars are to be installed on the valley division and because they are to get a new passenger station. It is well they should do their "blowing" now, for they will be totally eclipsed when Monongabela gets started.—Monongahela Times.

Mononaghela has spent something like a century to get to its present state, an if that is any criterion of what wa may expect when it does get "started," Charleroi's "blowing" will not be ill-timed.

Resolutions of Respect

The following resolutions were adopted by Valley Echo Commandery No. 379, Ancient and Illustrious Order Knights of Malta, at its regular meeting June 14:

Whereas, An all-wise Providence has deemed fit to remove from among us, our esteemed brother, Sir Knight William Adamson; and

Whereas, In his passing, Valley Echo Commandery loses a member who was always a constant worker for the welfare of this Commandery, and who aside from being a member was loyal and true to the principles of the Order at all times: his loss will be more sincerely mourned when we recall his courteous disposition, his generosity of spirit and his always cheerful, modest bearing toward all with whom he came in contact; therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to his bereaved relatives our heartfelt sympathy and the assurance of our sincere condolence in their great affliction; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Commandery, a copy sent to his sorrowing relatives, and a copy furnished for publication in the Charleroi Mail.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Black Duck, Minn.—"About a year ago I wrote you that I was sick and could not do any of my housework. My sickness was called Retroflexion. When I would sit down I felt as if I could not get up. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and did just as you told me and now I am perfectly cured, and have a big baby boy"—Mrs. ANNA ANDERSON, Box 19, Black Duck, Minn.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

An African and a Boa Constrictor.

At M'Geta, German East Africa, a native who, like all those belonging to the tribe of the Wahuguru, regarded snake flesh as an especial delicacy found a huge boa constrictor lying in the middle of a field. He confided the discovery to one or two others and arranged with them to kill it during the hours of darkness, so that they might enjoy the delicacy together. Toward nightfall the man, armed with a stick, attacked the huge serpent. The boa constrictor, aroused from its apparent torpor, suddenly seized the unhappy negro and slowly crushed him to pulp and then gradually swallowed him.

Lincoln as He Knew Him.

Asked under the civil service rules to write what he knew about Abraham Lincoln, an applicant for the police force of New York wrote:

"Abraham Lincoln was born in Kentucky at a very early age. His father moved the family to Ohio, floating down the Mississippi. If he had not been killed by a murderer he might be living today. He was an intelligent man and could easily have been president of New York city."—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Word "Wallop."

The origin of the familiar vernacular verb "to wallop" is not generally known. It comes from the family name of the earls of Portsmouth. Sir John Wallop, K. G., was admiral commander in the reign of King Henry VIII. of the fleet which avenged French raids by burning French ships and twenty-one French villages. This was called, in the current parlance of the times, "walloping" them, and the phrase passed into the language and still survives.

A Convenient Topic.

"I wonder what persuaded Mr. Biggins to believe in reincarnation?"

"The fact," replied Miss Cayenne, "that so few people know anything about it. It enables him to have the conversation almost entirely to himself."—Washington Star.

Needed Airing.

"What's the matter with you?" demanded Borem hotly. "I've got a right to air my opinions, haven't I?"

"Oh, of course," replied Brightly. "They're so stale and musty they certainly need something of that sort."—Philadelphia Press.

A CHEERFUL OUTLOOK.

Making It Pleasant For the Studious Traveler.

An English tourist traveling on foot through one of our mountainous regions, studying the people, asked a man whom he met to direct him to a certain cabin at which he had been advised to stay overnight. "Going thar?" said the man. "Well, Tom's a first rater, take him just right, but he's mighty queer."

"What do you mean?" asked the traveler.

"Well, it's like this," and the man looked at the stranger in a calm, impersonal way. "He'll be setting outside, most probably, and he'll see you coming. He'll take a good look at you, and ef you don't suit him he may set the dog on you.

"Ef he don't and you get to talking with him and say anything he don't just like he may throw you down and tromp on you. But ef you're too careful in your talk, on the other hand, he's liable to take you for a spy and use his gun fust and listen to explanations afterward.

"But it's no use trying to get by without stopping," concluded the man, with evident relish of the prospect he was opening up to the stranger. "Ef you was to undertake that 'twould be all up with you, for he'd think you was proud and biggerty.

"Ef you want to come out of the mountain whole, don't go past Tom's cabin without stopping, whatever you do!"—Youth's Companion.

Tactless.

"When Clubber gets arguing he loses all tact."

"As for instance?"

"Why, last night he told an opponent who is lame that he hadn't a leg to stand on, another who squints that he was sorry he couldn't see things as he did, and a man who stammered he urged not to hesitate in expressing an opinion."—Stray Stories.

THE CHAMELEON.

This Curious Animal Is Like Two Half Creatures Joined.

The chameleon is not allied closely to any other animal. It stands as a genus by itself. The nervous centers in one lateral half operate independently of those in the other. This seems outrageous, and it is, but it is true. The chameleon has two lateral centers of perception—of sensation and of motion. There exists also a third center—that common one in which abides the power of concentration by means of which the two sides of the creature may be forced to work in harmony with each other. But this center of concentration does not always dominate the situation. Notwithstanding the strictly symmetrical structure of the animal's two halves, the eyes move quite independently, and they convey distinct and separate impressions to their respective centers of perception. As of the eyes, so of the other members—each reports to and is controlled by its own center.

The result is that when the faculty of concentration becomes disturbed everything is jumbled. Let the chameleon be much agitated and its movements grow erratic. They are those of two creatures fastened together, or, rather, of two half creatures joined. Each half exhibits its intention of going its separate way. The result is a pitiable confusion of movement. There is no concordance of action. A curious example of the chameleon's helplessness when unduly excited is found in the fact that it cannot swim. The shock of being plunged into water upsets the poise of its faculty for concentration. Forthwith each side strikes out wildly for itself, to its own undoing. The chameleon is the only four legged vertebrate that cannot swim.

When the creature is calm every impulse to motion is referred to the common center of concentration, and the entire organism acts in fitting accord with the commands issued by that faculty. Thus, while totally different impressions from the two eyes are transmitted from their centers to the common one, that concentrating power decides as to which scene is the more important and then directs the eye otherwise engaged also to regard it. The same principle applies in the control of all the members—so long as the animal remains unexcited. Any observer may easily verify the existence of this dual nature in a superficial way by some experiments with a sleeping chameleon. A touch on one side of the animal will wake that side up, while the other side sleeps calmly on.

Three Meals at Once.

"Now, Mary," said her mistress, "you must come to the door of the drawing room and say, 'Breakfast is ready, and supper is ready, but dinner is served.'"

The newly corralled domestic inwardly digested the concise instructions and that evening convulsed the guests who were awaiting the announcement of dinner by stepping between the portieres, dropping a courtesy and repeating, "Breakfast is ready and supper is ready, but dinner is ser-r-ved!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

JUNE ON THE GREAT LAKES

Restful, delightful, interesting and instructive, there is no trip like that on the Great Lakes, those inland seas which form the border line between the United States and Canada. And June is one of the most charming months in the year in which to take the trip.

For comfort the fine passenger steamships of the Anchor Line have no superiors. As well appointed as the palatial ocean greyhounds which plow the Atlantic, their schedule allows sufficient time at all stopping places to enable the traveler to see something of the great lake cities and to view in daylight the most distinctive sights of the lakes, and the scenery which frames them.

The trip through the Detroit River, and through Lake St. Clair, with its great ship canal in the middle of the lake, thence through Lake Huron, the locking of the steamer through the great locks at the Soo, and the passage of the Portage Entry, lake and canal, across the upper end of Michigan are novel and interesting features.

The voyage from Buffalo to Duluth covers over eleven hundred miles in the five days' journey. Leaving Buffalo, the steamships Juniata, Tionesta and Octorara, make stops at Erie, Cleveland, Detroit, Macknac Island, the Soo, Marquette, Houghton and Hancock, and Duluth.

The 1910 season opened on May 31, when the Steamer Tionesta made her first sailing from Buffalo.

The Anchor Line is the Great Lake Annex of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the service measures up to the high standard set by the "Standard Railroad of America."

An illustrated folder, giving sailing dates of steamers, rates of fare, and other information is in course of preparation, and may be obtained when ready from any Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agent, who is also prepared to book passengers who may desire to take this trip through the Great Lakes and back.
